

BELLS REFURBISHMENT 2012

The tower is silent now, the bells have gone that rang for joy or grief around the town to Mears & Stainbank where they first were cast the year of Queen Victoria's Jubilee. This year they've hobnobbed with the stars of television seen around the world: the Diamond Jubilee Flotilla bells, the Great Olympic Bell for London's Games. This was no holiday or pleasure trip; the purpose was refitting and repair so they can ring, when they come safely home, with smoother action and with sweeter tone – so once again the bells can grace our town as Edgar's gift to his Maria's renown.
